

DISCLAIMER

This instrument is for general information and represents a good faith effort to compile current data on Pennsylvania. This data is highly complex and dynamic and should be viewed in that light. The information herein was provided by the Pennsylvania Department of Community & Economic Development (DCED), and iMapData, inc. Persons using this information should understand that this array of information may contain omissions, errors or inaccuracies and to use the data accordingly. Compiled data are living documents and are a "work in progress" and may not be all inclusive of the total population in Pennsylvania. Finally, neither DCED, nor iMapdata makes any representations as to the absolute accuracy of any information in any specific locale within any community. Additionally, information may only be available within a portion of a town. To determine layer data in a particular location, members should direct the inquiry to the actual data providers.